

HI THERE, I'M CARRIE.

I'm a travel enthusiast living in the San Francisco area. I grew up in New England with a deep wanderlust, pursued a multifaceted career, traveled to many incredible places, and raised two amazing daughters who also love to travel. Now, I share my adventures through my travel blog and social media. I inspire people to experience the deep fulfillment and satisfaction that travel provides and motivate them to return home as a better version of themselves. Let me help your brand reach a new audience by sharing my authentic travel experiences. I support your unique goals while connecting through relatable content and beautiful photography.
